II. INTRODUCTION

On October 25, 2006, the United Effort Plan Trust (the "Trust" or "UEP Trust") was reformed by the Court in the case of In re United Effort Plan Trust, Case No. 053900848 in the Third District Court of Salt Lake County, Utah. Because of the Court's actions, the Trust will not fail, but will survive as a charitable trust for the benefit of the members of the Trust's beneficiary class.

The reformed UEP Trust is governed by a document entitled REFORMED DECLARATION OF TRUST OF THE UNITED EFFORT PLAN TRUST DATED OCTOBER 25, 2006 (the "Reformed Declaration"). A copy of the Reformed Declaration and other relevant documents may be found on-line at "www.ueptrust.com". All interested parties are encouraged to review the Reformed Declaration for information regarding the reformed Trust.

In accordance with the Reformed Declaration, the Trust is considering petitions for Trust benefits from qualified members of the Trust's beneficiary class. This form Petition for Benefits is intended to be used by Trust Participants to petition for benefits from the Trust in a uniform manner. The petitions will be reviewed by Bruce R. Wisan, the Court-appointed Special Fiduciary of the Trust (the "Fiduciary") after consultation with the Court-appointed Advisory Board. All petitions must be signed by the petitioner with a sworn verification as to the accuracy of the information contained therein. To the fullest extent possible, all information provided in the petitions will be verified by the Trust.

Petitions may be submitted to the Fiduciary by mail: 132 West Pierpont Avenue, Salt Lake City, UT 84101; facsimile: 801-328-2015; or e-mail: bwisan@wsrp.com.

III. INFORMATION REGARDING THE REFORMED UEP TRUST

Purpose of the Trust. The reformed UEP Trust is to be administered as a charitable trust to provide benefits to the members of the Trust's beneficiary class according to their just wants and needs. The Reformed Declaration provides that: "Just wants and needs concern primarily housing, with the goal of securing residences for Trust Participants. Secondly, just wants and needs concern education, including scholarships, occupational training and economic development. Just wants and needs may also include food, clothing, medical needs and other items within the discretion of the Board. Trust Property may also be held, used and distributed for community development, including, but not limited to, community buildings and places, schools, parks and cemeteries, etc." (Reformed Declaration, at § 4.1).

Administration of the Trust. The Reformed Declaration provides that the Trust will eventually be administered by a Board of Trustees. Until the Court appoints and transfers powers to the Board of Trustees, the Trust shall be administered by the Fiduciary. (See Reformed Declaration, at § 5.1).

Qualifications for Membership in the Beneficiary Class. The Reformed Declaration provides that the class of Trust beneficiaries, known as "Trust Participants", shall consist of the following: "[T]hose individuals (1) who can demonstrate that they had previously made Contributions to either the Trust or the FLDS Church; or (2) who subsequent to [the] date of this Agreement make documented Contributions to the Trust which Contributions are approved by the Board." (Reformed Declaration, at § 4.2). "Trust Participant status shall not be based upon the value of the property or services contributed and shall be interpreted liberally consistent with the charitable purpose of the Trust." (Id.) The Reformed Trust further explains that: "contributions to the Trust may be in the form of real and personal property of any nature and may also include consecrations of time, talents, money and materials and improvements to Trust Property." (Reformed Declaration, at § 3.2).

Trust Benefits. The Reformed Declaration provides that the Board may provide benefits to Trust Participants as they deem advisable in accordance with the purpose of the Trust. Such benefits may include: (1) allowing Trust Participants to occupy and use Trust property; and/or (2) distributing Trust property to individual Trust Participants. Distributions of Trust property may include transfers by deed directly to individual Trust Participant(s) or transfers to a spendthrift trust for the benefit of Trust Participants. (See Reformed Declaration, at §§ 6.1 & 6.6).

No Rights to Trust Property. The Reformed Declaration provides that: "No Trust Participant shall have a right to Trust Property. No single factor defining just wants and needs shall obligate the Board to use or distribute Trust Property to or for the benefit of any Trust Participant. The determination of the just wants and needs of a Trust Participant shall be made in the sole and absolute discretion of the Board." (Reformed Declaration, at § 6.2). "Except as may otherwise be provided by the orders of courts of competent jurisdiction, the privilege to reside upon Trust real property and to occupy and use Trust Property is granted, and may be revoked, by the Board pursuant to Trust purposes. The use and/or occupancy of Trust Property is not and does not become a right or claim of anyone against the Trust." (Reformed Declaration, at § 6.6.2). "To accomplish Trust purposes, the Board may require that Trust Participants and their families relocate to different locations on Trust Property, require them to share a location with others or revoke completely a Trust Participant's privilege to use and/or occupy Trust Property." (Reformed Declaration, at § 6.6.4).

Mechanism for Trust Participants to Petition for Benefits. The Reformed Declaration provides that: "Any Trust Participant may make a request for benefits from the Trust by filing with the Board (or its authorized representative), a written petition setting forth the benefits desired and the facts and circumstances supporting such petition. Neither the filing of a petition nor the failure of the Board to respond to a petition shall entitle[] a Trust Participant to any benefit from the Trust. The Board may respond to the petition at such time, if ever, and in such manner as the Board in its sole discretion determines." (Reformed Declaration, at § 6.3).

Factors to Consider in Providing Benefits to Trust Participants. The Reformed Declaration provides that the Board may consider some or all of the following factors in administering the Trust:

- (1) the financial condition and needs of the Trust Participant including existing or potential sources of income, compensation or other recovery;
- (2) the previous or present use of Trust Property by the Trust Participant, including the length of time the Trust Participant has used and relied on Trust Property;
- (3) the Trust Participant's cooperation with the Board, acceptance of occupancy agreements, operation of businesses on Trust Property consistent with the Trust's purposes, and compliance with the rules and standards set by the Board;
- (4) the contribution of services or assets to the Trust, including improvements to Trust Property by the Trust Participant;
- (5) the efforts of the Trust Participant to protect Trust Property through donations for the payment of property taxes, land surveys, insurance premiums and other expenses related to the Trust;
- (6) the Trust Participant's efforts to keep Trust Property safe, in good repair and otherwise properly maintained;
- (7) the Trust Participant's ability or inability to cooperate openly with the Board;
- (8) any legitimate grievance a Trust Participant may have against the Trust; and
- (9) non-binding recommendations received from an authorized representative of the FLDS Church concerning what a particular Trust Participant's just wants and needs may be in light of the religious principles of the FLDS Church.

(See Reformed Declaration, at § 6.4). The Reformed Declaration further provides that: "In administering the Trust, the Board shall not consider whether any Trust Participant participates in polygamy. In so doing, the Board will not be deemed to be benefitting, advocating or facilitating illegal practices." (Reformed Declaration, at § 6.5).
