A Brief History of Lincoln's 50,000 Silver $ Bar

Lincoln's 50,000 Silver $ Bar began in 1951 when Gerry and Marie Lincoln and their three small sons moved from Libby, Montana to Alberton, Montana. Two Miles west of this small town on Highway 10 (now Interstate 90) they built a small bar, named it "Cherry Springs" after the small creek that runs there, and settled in to make a living. Soon, however, they realized that people needed a reason to stop, an attraction, and they got an idea.

At that time, the local customers (loggers and miners) were paid in silver dollars. Also, travelers to Montana always received their change in silver dollars. They weighed a ton in your pocket. (This is why loggers wear suspenders.) On October 1, 1952, Gerry cut a round hole in the bar top, hammered a silver dollar into it, and inscribed he and Marie's names beneath it.

The idea caught on and by December 1953, over 2,000 people had placed their coins and names in the bar top. As a result of this, the name was changed to "Lincoln's 2,000 Silver $ Bar." The original bar top is still intact and in use. It contains 2,115 pieces and all the other coins in the collection are embedded in boards and displayed around the barroom. Each coin is the possession of the individual who left it. Many People or their children or grandchildren, return year after year to visit their coin.

Four years after its beginning, when construction on Interstate 90 began in 1956 the business, along with over 6,000 silver dollars moved 50 miles west to Haugan, Montana. Here a fine gift and souvenir shop was added and the silver dollar collection continues to grow.

Even though we may sound large, and may look large, we have maintained a down-home, come-and-sit-awhile, easy-going attitude here. We Sincerely hope you enjoy your visit with us. I know we will enjoy having you.

A hearty Big Sky Country "WELCOME"!
