“For someone to develop genuine compassion towards others, first he or she must have a basis upon which to cultivate compassion, and that basis is the ability to connect to one’s own feelings and to care for one’s own welfare... Caring for others requires caring for oneself.”

—Tenzin Gyatso, the 14th Dalai Lama

MSC Teacher Training is an intensive, 6-day, residential program facilitated by a team of senior MSC teachers. The training is built around the eight weekly sessions of MSC with each half day dedicated to a condensed, experiential review of one of the sessions, followed by small group activities designed to give attendees opportunities to practice teaching, guiding and facilitating discussion in that session with the close consultation of one of the Teacher Trainers. In addition, the training includes short talks, group exercises, discussion, and periods of silence. Participants will be provided with the essential materials to teach MSC programs.

Objectives

At the completion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Deepen one's personal practice of responding to difficult emotions with mindfulness and compassion
- Summarize current basic theory and research on self-compassion
- Identify the core themes and practices presented in each of the eight group sessions of MSC, plus the retreat day
- Develop the skills necessary to facilitate MSC groups, including how to guide meditation, teach from each participant's direct experience, and facilitate group cohesion
- Identify obstacles to mindful self-compassion practice and strategies for overcoming them
- Embody a mindful and compassionate stance toward students of the MSC program as they confront challenges to their practice

Target Audience

This 6-day intensive is intended for those who wish to teach the MSC program, those who would like to integrate mindfulness and self-compassion in their ongoing professional activities (i.e., psychotherapy, coaching, nursing, teaching, etc.), and individuals who have a professional interest in the field (i.e., researchers, administrators, etc.).

Mindful Self-Compassion (MSC) is an empirically-supported 8-week program designed to cultivate the skill of self-compassion. Based on pioneering research by Kristin Neff and integrated with the clinical perspective of Christopher Germer, MSC teaches core principles and practices that enable participants to respond to difficult emotions with care and understanding.

The three key components of self-compassion are self-kindness, a sense of common humanity, and balanced, mindful awareness. Kindness opens our hearts to suffering, so we can give ourselves what we need. Common humanity opens us to others, so that we know we aren't alone. Mindfulness opens us to the present moment, so we can accept our experience with greater ease. Together they comprise a state of warmhearted, connected, presence during difficult moments in our lives.

Self-compassion can be learned by anyone, even those who didn't receive enough affection in childhood or who feel uncomfortable when they are good to themselves. It's a courageous attitude that stands up to harm, including the harm that we inflict on ourselves through self-criticism, self-denial, or self-absorption. Self-compassion provides emotional strength and resilience, allowing us to admit our shortcomings, forgive ourselves, motivate ourselves with kindness, care for others, and be fully human.

Rapidly expanding research clearly demonstrates that self-compassion is related to emotional wellbeing, lower anxiety and depression, maintenance of healthy habits such as diet and exercise, and more satisfying personal relationships.

Trained Teacher Designation

The purpose of the 6-day Teacher Training is to establish a basic level of training and proficiency sufficient to begin offering the program to the general public. To receive MSC Trained Teacher status, graduates of the Teacher Training are also expected to receive consultation while teaching at least one 8-week MSC program, either by co-facilitating with a certified MSC teacher or through online group consultation offered through the Center for MSC. All Trained Teachers are eligible to be listed on the Center for MSC website in a Directory of Trained Teachers.

Teacher Certification

Trained Teacher status is a key step toward Certification. Certification is a process of ensuring that an individual has achieved full competency through experience, training and supervision over a period of time and practice. The UC San Diego Center for Mindfulness offers certification in conjunction with the Center for Mindful Self-Compassion. Please see our MSC Certification Pathway if you have further questions about Certification.

Teacher Training

The MSC program has been in development since 2009, and a MSC training manual is scheduled for publication in 2018 (Guilford Press).

Teaching MSC

The MSC program is ideally led by two instructors. This model enables one instructor to monitor the emotional needs of individual participants while the other is teaching. Self-compassion can activate strong emotions, sometimes including relational pain dating back to childhood. We therefore recommend that one of the teachers, or an assistant to the MSC teacher, be a licensed mental health clinician. We realize that some groups may have members with relatively minor emotional needs, or be too small to require two teachers, so please use your own judgment about how to provide a safe and supportive learning environment.

Participant Guidelines

Our ability to teach others depends largely on discovering the power of self-compassion in our own lives and embodying the practice. Since the core principles and practices of the MSC program are taught through experiential learning, participants are encouraged to focus on their felt experience during teacher training. Ample time will also be allocated for professional dialogue and the nuts and bolts of teaching.

The MSC program is a journey—an adventure in self-discovery and self-kindness. Loving-kindness and self-compassion training helps us soothe and comfort ourselves as it paradoxically reveals emotional distress we may have been unconsciously holding inside, often for many years. Therefore, some difficult emotions are likely to surface as we grow in our capacity to embrace them. This is intrinsic to the process of emotional transformation through self-compassion.

Self-compassion thrives in an environment of safety, support, privacy, individual responsibility, and a common commitment to presence and compassion. Self-compassion practice should also be easy and enjoyable. The teacher trainers are dedicated to creating such a learning atmosphere for all workshop participants and their future students.

Frequently Asked Questions

How do I get to the venue ?

This is the link to the venue: <http://www.ammerdown.org/> and directions are here: <http://ammerdown.org/how-to-find-us>. If you need additional accommodation or advice on transport, please contact the venue.

What time should I plan to arrive? When do we finish?

We will begin checking people in from 3-5pm on the first day of the training. We ask that you plan on arriving between 3pm and 5pm so that we can begin with the full group in attendance at dinnertime. We plan to end the retreat by 2pm on the last day so please plan your travel accordingly, using the time guidelines above. Sometimes situations arise in which people have to leave the retreat earlier than noon on the last day but we strongly urge you to avoid this if at all possible.

Is there wireless service/cellular phone use?

Free WiFi is available throughout the centre, accessed by a password which is displayed in the meeting rooms, information folders in bedroom or from the receptionist at the main reception desk. As the centre is in a rural area, sometimes the download bandwidth can be a bit slow, especially if lots of people are trying to download all at the same time. It is most advisable to leave your computer at home because of the retreat nature of the training; however we recognize that sometimes computer use is a necessity.

Mobile/cell phone signal is patchy and depends which network you are on. Most people are able to get a signal from the car park or just at the top of the main drive while some lucky people can get a signal in the centre! Again, however given the nature of the training there will be limited opportunities to use them, so informing those who may need to contact you of these limitations ahead of time will be helpful.

Is it possible to stay extra nights at the facility or arrive a day or two early?

Depending on availability, the centre may be able to offer bed and breakfast at a rate of B&B £47 per person or Supper B&B £61 per person. If they are full then there are a few local places they can recommend. Please contact bookings@ammerdown.org for further information.

What do I need to bring?

If it is at all possible, please bring a meditation cushion (zafu) and a yoga mat. The centre has a few cushions but not enough to go around, and no mats, so if you have these items and can squeeze it into your luggage or bring it as a carry-on please consider doing so. It is always advisable to check the weather forecast prior to traveling, to help guide you in proper clothing choices.

Can I keep items securely ?

Every bedroom has a lockable door and each guest will have a key for their own room. The main centre has the front door and back on a timer lock so when the reception desk is not manned it is locked. This means people who aren't staying will have to ring a bell to gain access. Guests have a fob on their room key which will open the door for them. We recommend leaving valuable items at home to reduce the possibility of anything being lost or stolen.

What should I expect regarding the format of the training?

This training is taught in a retreat format, which means there is a great deal of mindfulness practice embedded in the training, and we want to reiterate that now so you are not surprised when you get here. The venue very much facilitates this format; we will meet, eat and be housed in a relatively secluded area.

What are the accommodation options?

We are hoping to be able to accommodate everyone in solo occupancy rooms. All rooms are ensuite except for three single rooms and these rooms have wash basin and toilet, and access to shower rooms a few footsteps away. If you would like one of these three rooms or would like to share in a twin or double room, please specify in your application and there is a reduced fee for these options. Each bedroom has a desk and chair, a comfy chair, a hospitality tray and storage for clothes and personal items. Linen and towels are provided.

What should I read prior to arriving?

Check the “Schedule and Required Reading” page of the specific training you are registered to attend.

What if I require some special accommodations or have dietary restrictions?

While you are asked to note specific food restrictions on your registration application, if there are any additional food or medical concerns we should be aware of please let us know of these in advance so we may assist you.

Ammerdown regularly cater for vegetarians, vegans, people who are gluten free, coeliacs, have dairy intolerance, allergies to specific foods ie nuts, tomatoes etc. There is only an additional charge if there are diets that are very complex or require special ingredients that would incur additional costs. The venue also cannot cater for anyone with a very severe allergy where a small trace may prove fatal as they cannot guarantee that there won't be traces of allergens on foods that have been brought in.

- Why do you wish to attend this training, and what are the specific financial or other barriers to your attending?
- How do you imagine implementing or integrating MSC into your life?
