

Workforce Ready Koncepts

Re-Entry WRKforce Training

The Bureau of Justice Statistics reports that while 2.3 million people are imprisoned in the United States, 95% of people in state prisons will re-enter our communities at some point. Essential WRKplace Skills for formerly incarcerated job seekers is a must! Soft Skills are critical to work readiness, employee retention, and self-sufficiency, and access to training and higher education have been shown to reduce recidivism.

ñ F ? uses its Mobile Learning Platform to create unconventional learning environments to meet the needs of the Re-Entry population.

Mobile learners can use the web-based learning portal on any Internet connected device.

WRK provides learners with a connected device that is filtered and monitored to ensure learners are able to avoid distractions on the Internet.

Learners can take training on their device create resumes' and cover letters using their 12-month subscription to Microsoft Office. The \ training provides beginner training in Word, Excel' PowerPoint.

Digital Literacy is a necessary skill in today's marketplace. Most ex-offenders are cut off from technology until they are released. The M O h has an entire course that specifically addresses topics like social media, job searching on the Internet, and basic technical Let WRK help your formerly incarcerated job seekers Re-Enter the workforce!